

Michael Bennallack Hart

New Paintings

1-23 December 2009

Medici Gallery

Michael Bennallack Hart's work is prized by collectors for its evocation of atmosphere, mastery of composition and strong feelings of romanticism. Indeed he follows in the tradition of the Romantic landscape painters of the nineteenth century, but with a sense of arrangement, quality and approach that is both contemporary and original. His work is beautifully painted with a rare sensitivity and an adept understanding of the medium of oil. His nocturnal scenes especially have an extraordinary depth and power.

Michael began his career designing and illustrating film posters and record sleeves, and painting landscapes and sports scenes. In the 1970s and 80s he worked as an advertising art director and illustrator, whilst continuing to paint and exhibiting at the Spectrum Gallery in New York. This is Michael's seventh solo exhibition at Medic Gallery.
