

La Galerie London

presents

The Red Art Show

15 – 19 March 2011

In benefit of Red Nose Day Charity

The exhibition will be held at the Hollywood Gallery, 12 Hollywood Road, London SW10 9HY

(opening times: Tuesday 12-6pm / Wednesday 12-6pm / Thursday 12-6pm /Friday 12- 8pm /Saturday 11 – 7pm)

The show will include artworks by upcoming and emerging artists from La Galerie London, photographs by Sandrine Commarmond and Carole Latimer, paintings by Hanna Sidorowicz, Eva Walova-Lemaire, Louisa Burnett-Hall and Nicolas Kuligowski, collographs by Gerlinde Behr-Johansen but also some established prints by Alexander Calder, Terry Frost and Chagall. There will be also selected pieces of furniture and design objects.

The purpose of the exhibition is to show an eclectic assemblage of different artists and sensibilities using the colour RED as a main theme in order to raise money for Red Nose Day.

Red Nose Day is a National Charity with a huge positive impact on people with difficult lives in the UK and in Africa. Money raised by Red Nose Day gives the chance to transform the lives of poor, vulnerable and disadvantaged people across the UK and Africa. From restoring the sight of children in Africa to giving isolated older people in the UK the support they need to enjoy their lives – the money goes a long way.
