

London Potters at the Morley Gallery
61 Westminster Bridge Road, London SE1 7HT

November 6th – 21st, 2012

Mon 12.30 -6pm
Tues-Fri 11am to 6pm (Thur 7pm)
Sat 12-4pm

This yearly exhibition at the Morley Gallery showcases new pieces by 90 ceramic artists, members of the London Potters association.

Earthenware, stoneware, porcelain and bone-china take a variety of shapes and functions: amongst the exhibits you will find imposing platters by Mike Braisher, sculptural pieces by Keith Gretton and Adrienne Shaw and delicate decorative vessels by Barbara Wakefield and Imahiko Kawamura.

Functional, thrown porcelain by John Dawson and Norman Yap are contrasted by raku and smoke fired pieces by Jane Gibson and Deana Lee; wall pieces, table lights and many other original works by well established professional as well as rising new talents will inspire and arouse your interest, This is an exciting and diverse exhibition that will appeal both to collectors as well as first time buyers.

All pieces are for sale at very accessible prices.

Further information and members gallery at www.londonpotters.com