Claudia Massie is a young artist whose work is deeply influenced by the Scottish landscape, its transitions and morphology.

The River Don spans 82 miles from the peat flats beneath Druim na Freithe to the North Sea. As well as providing sport for the fisherman it quietly nourishes and shapes the character of the area, its agriculture and its rich history.

Claudia brings glimpses of the hidden nature of this splendid river to her new show A Strathdon Journey. www.claudiamassie.com
