This will be the 8th annual Art in Marylebone Fair. This year, we are hugely delighted to be able to host this event in the marvellous Great Hall of the Hellenic Centre on Paddington Street, in the very heart of Marylebone.

The AiM fair has established itself as a boutique artists's art fair in London's most beautiful and central location, and is supported by all of the main institutions within Marylebone as well as by local businesses and private individuals.

Until 2012, the AiM show was reserved exclusively for artists who either lived or worked within Marylebone. This year, the organisational team, headed by photographer Adam Butler, decided to open the event up to all artists, as well as enlarging the event to be able to host a greater number of artists and much more exciting contemporary art.

This year AiM has gathered together a diverse range of 24 artists working in traditional as well as more contemporary styles, in paint as well as in photography, etchings and sculpture. They are very proud to be able to exhibit the works of new as well as established artists including Héloïse Delègue, Matt Forster, and Jane Eva Cooper. The fair will also showcase the 50 winning entries to this year's "Day in the Life of Marylebone" photo competition.
