

Matthew Harris
'MATERIAL MATTERS'

8 October – 3 November 2013
Gallery 1, The Museum in the Park, Stroud

Matthew Harris is an artist who is deeply committed to making and materials. He uses complex processes of dying, layering and stitching to make work that has been described as expressing a 'rhythmic cycle of making and un-making' and of having 'a quiet sense of the invasive'. This exhibition brings together pieces and examples in both cloth and paper that lyrically demonstrate the concerns that are central to his work.
