

New Artist Fair Summer Exhibition 2015
4-6 September 2015
Friday Private View: 5:30pm-9pm
Open All Weekend: 12pm-6pm

The largest and most vibrant New Artist Fair to date returns to the Old Truman Brewery off London's iconic Brick Lane for the 5th consecutive year showcasing the 'Summer Exhibition 2015'. Exhibiting over 100 emerging and recently established artists, New Artist Fair gives the visiting public the chance to buy affordably and directly from the artists.

Founded in 2011, the New Artist Fair provides a platform for bringing the best emerging and recently established contemporary artists to the London market, selling their work directly to art lovers, buyers, investors and collectors.

With the aim of providing art for everyone, the New Artist Fair's Exhibitions showcase a wide range of styles and genres at white-walled gallery spaces, giving the visiting public the chance to see and buy the art directly from the artists in a friendly welcoming atmosphere.

The next exhibition, 4 -6 September, will be showcasing 100+ of the best emerging and recently established artists from the UK and around the world. On show will be a wide variety of artists' works, covering all types including photography, landscapes, portraits and abstracts, both originals and prints at prices ranging from £20 to £2,000. Given the high quality of work on display this year, we have raised the price limit to £2,000, allowing buyers a wider range of works to choose from. The majority of the original art for sale is priced between £150 and £500, making this art fair truly affordable.

To enhance the visiting experience, most of the artists will be available to meet with and chat to at the opening reception and throughout the weekend. Many of the artists have been exhibiting with us for years which establishes their work within the London art market, whilst new up-and-coming artists who are exhibiting their work for the first time with the New Artist Fair will also offer exciting new art opportunities to buyers.

The Summer Exhibition is Free Entry for all to browse over 1,000 originals and prints in a relaxed friendly environment. All the art will be affordable and of the highest quality, enabling a wide range of buyers to invest in art while supporting new talented artists.

The Private View will be held on Friday the 4th of September from 5:30pm to 9pm and will include complimentary drinks.

The event will then be open all weekend on both Saturday 5th and Sunday 6th from 12pm to 6pm.
