BRIGHTON PRINT FAIR is a new print selling event. A 10-day exhibition promoting printmaking in its various forms. From classic printmaking, letterpress, posters, screen-printed gig posters to print products, the show will be a celebration of printmakers and printmaking.

The main gallery at Phoenix Brighton will host the main fair, with the entire space being hung with unframed prints, giving the exhibition a sense of unity, and allowing the customer the chance to choose the frame they wish. The rest of the venue will be used for printmaking classes, talks, demonstration, one day specials, a 20th Century printmakers exhibition as well as an in-house framer and a café! A true festival.

The full list of exhibitors will be announced at the end of June.

“After one of those long days of disappointing Paris life ... I throw myself into an armchair, close to the stand where my favourite engravings lie sleeping in their large portfolio, and as I examine them one by one, my troubles evaporate, I forget the cares of this world!” Roger Marx (1883)
